

New LHG-LA Prime Code Integration via NDC

New Interline Itineraries for broader travel options on LA operated flights

Lufthansa Group continues to progress in its NDC journey by integrating LATAM Airlines (LA) prime code. This significant addition enables travel agents to book interline journeys that combine Lufthansa Group and LATAM Airlines flights, offering a broader network and giving customers easier access to South America through the NDC channels.

Key Takeaways:

- LA prime flight number must be combined with a LHG flight number
- Lufthansa Group is the fare owner and validating carrier
- The origin or destination is in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Paraguay, Peru or Uruguay for itineraries to / from Europe, with a connection point in IATA Traffic Conference Area 1

This step reinforces Lufthansa Group's commitment to strong partnerships and continued progress in its NDC transformation, enabling competitive travel options across South America.

The new LHG-LA interline itineraries are available for purchase through Lufthansa Group's Direct NDC API, NDC aggregators, and SPRK.

Discover the next phase of Lufthansa Group's NDC journey, where seamless interline travel with LATAM is embedded in a broader, smarter network.

Date: 11/06/2026